

NEED RELIABILITY?

We've got the solution.

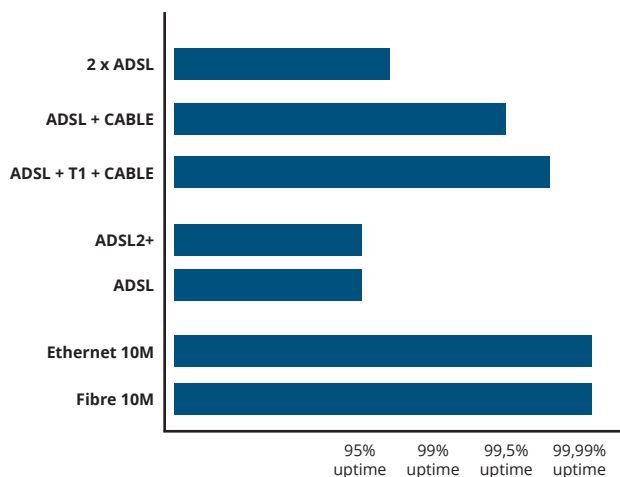

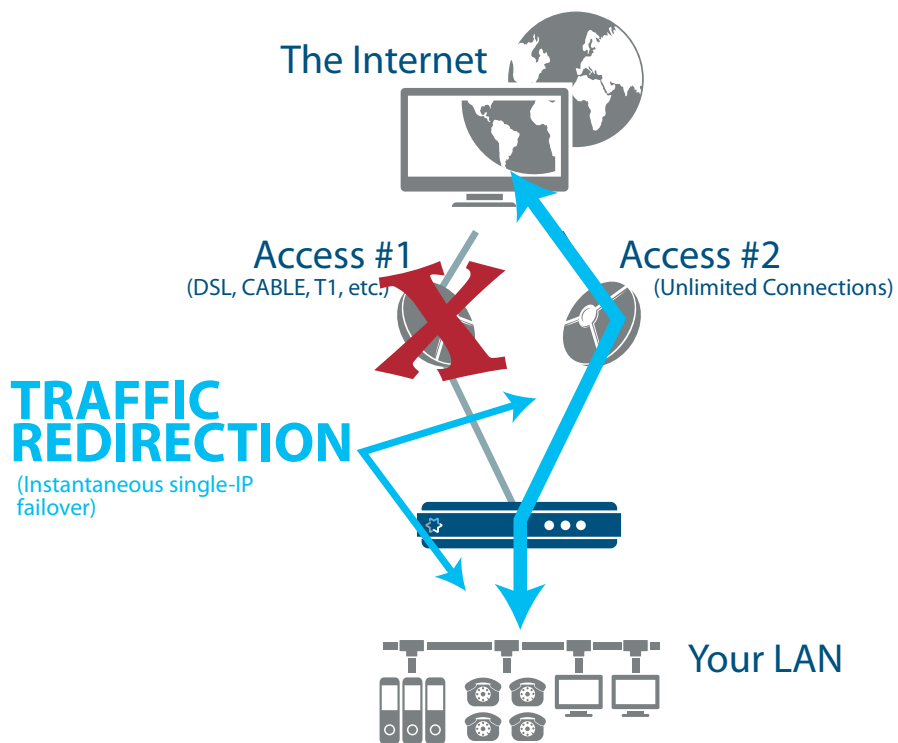

Fully-Redundant Networks via Bonded Internet™

Combine connections of different types or from different service providers to give your office the redundancy it needs.

Downtime got you...down? Our latest product, Bonded Internet, gives you the power to mix-and-match service providers to create a resilient, fully-dependable, single-IP network. The service combines network connections to protect you from service outages.

Protect your business from downtime

Network reliability is increasingly important as the business world expands beyond the bricks and mortar of your office. Bonded Internet is your ideal solution if you're adopting cloud or hosted applications. Consider it your outage insurance.
